

I read There is an Answer cover to cover and I love it. Candace Frazee and Steve Lubanski are two of the “fullest” human beings I know, and it shows. It’s not just Candace’s warmth that comes through the pages, it’s her attention to facts and details, and the enormous respect she displays toward Swedenborg himself.

Cantara Christopher
Publisher, Cantarabooks
San Francisco, California
February 2009

Dear Candace,

Thanks so much for sending me a copy of your book "There is an Answer". It was very kind of you. Obviously we are both asking big questions but in a rather different way. You may be interested in my new book — due out in March — called “Ten Zen Questions”. I’m hoping that people will join in the blog and argue about the answers!

Dr. Susan Blackmore
Devon, England
Author of
*Conversations on Consciousness:
What the Best Minds Think about the Brain, Free Will, and What It Means to
Be Human* (2007);
*Dying to Live:
Near-Death Experiences* (1993)
February 2009

Dear Candace,

The Department of Correctional Services Library System would like to thank you for the generous donation you made to our prison libraries. We received a copy of There is an Answer and the inmates look forward to reading it. People like you really make a difference! Once again, thank you for thinking of us.

Erin Egan-OsBurn
DCS Library Coordinator
Omaha Correctional Center
Omaha, Nebraska
February 2009

There is an Answer is a rich mine of wisdom on Swedenborg’s teachings—Candace Frazee has a gift for putting this in understandable accessible English.

Bill Radcliffe
Mitchellville, Maryland
February 2009

Candace Frazee’s new book, There is an Answer, is so spiritually inspiring—like food for the thought and soul. I’m learning so much from it, especially about Candace and why she’s so loved by her readers—me first!

I just love her sincere and warm comments to our questions and how she answers them with full concern. Candace is so thoughtful and helpful and a true friend of mine forever. Keep it going!

Earl Mosley
Los Angeles, California
March 2009

Candace Frazee’s wonderful book: There is an Answer, I enjoyed it so much I read it in one sitting. The questions and responses in the book with the historical insights about Swedenborg made this a really interesting and enjoyable book. I showed it at church. I wish Candace continued success with her great efforts to reach the world with the teachings of Swedenborg. She is really a needed and valued source.

Doris Millam
Boynton Beach, Florida
February 2009

Dear Candace,

On behalf of The American University of Iraq—Sulaimani, I write to thank you for your generous contribution to our budding library.

We are on our way to developing an English language library that will function as unparalleled resource in Iraq, open to both our students at the University and the rest of the community. Your contribution of There is an Answer shall stand as a step toward reach this goal.

Nathan Musselman
Prefect and Deputy to the Chancellor
The American University of Iraq—
Sulaimani
Sulaimani, Iraq
April 2009

What pleases me, as I think a lot of people, is that Candace Frazee shares her soul and her convictions right out there without fear and without apology.

I was not expecting to be so bowled over by her new book. I have skimmed it and now I am reading it carefully. It is going to take me a long time as Candace has a lot of meat and potatoes there.

I am beginning to see Candace Frazee coming through the mists of history as a virtual Joan of Arc, holding the sword of truth on high, and braving all consequences. Yes, her readers have seen that too, and have been praising her. This is lonely work. The loneliest in the world. And for some reason it brings out the naysayers enmass, chanting around her.

I was one volunteer who drove Candace around helping her to get ready for the Tricentenary celebration of Swedenborg’s 300th birthday in 1988. She put that on virtually by her own herculean effort. I had to marvel at how she maintained a positive demeanor throughout. Come to think of it, I have never seen her looking low and discouraged. It was an honor to be one of her volunteers, and to behold her in action. Since then, she has taken that same football and run with it. She has knocked the opposition aside and made many brave touchdowns.

We used to talk about various aspects of the evangelization (announcement of the Lord) that really cries out to be done on this self-destructing planet. That was another of my many privileges in her company. One of the things she used to say was that somebody should compile a list of all the names of great people influenced by E. Swedenborg. So imagine my eyes popping out when I was paging through her book and found no less than 8 pages listing such names! Truly she has run well with the ball! That was a big touchdown, all by itself! And I am picking it up out of the air that possibly I will find other confirmations of things we used to talk about (as being unappreciated needs in the eyes of the New Church establishment). Well done. Well done.

Eliot Walt Cranch
Laguna Hills, California
March 2009

There is an Answer:
Living in the Post-Apocalyptic World
by Candace Frazee
Bunny House Books, $30
www.candacefrazee.com